

The Border Widette.

Vol. 7.

NOGALES, ARIZONA, JUNE 17, 1899.

No. 24

BRIEF ITEMS.

Engineer Andy Linder of the Sonora road, was in the city several days this week.

J. A. Straith, the mining expert, came in from the Promontorio mine Wednesday on business.

Miss Julia Simond left Monday morning for Tucson, where she will spend a month visiting friends.

Charley Levin, brother of Henry Levin, is in the city. He drove overland from the old pueblo last Monday.

The mill that took place Monday afternoon on Morley avenue only lasted one round and was not worth the price of admission.

Chas. Sprocher, the well known millman, came up from the south Monday evening and is enjoying the cool Nogales sople.

Under Sheriff Flewelling is having a handsome row of tenement houses—three in number—built on his Cañon street property.

Albert Olcovich, after a two week's pleasure trip to the coast, returned to the city last Sunday. Always he had a royal good time shooting the "shoots."

Frank M. Evans, than whom no better salesman visits the border city, was an arrival on Tuesday morning's train from the north. He registered at the Montezuma.

Bonham the Mutual Life Insurance agent, is in the city rustling business for his old line company. Any one having business with Mr. Bonham will find him "on the square."

The freight and passenger traffic on the N. M. & A., and Sonora railways is enormous these days. Agent P. J. Zeimet and his assistants are kept on the jump dispatching the "business" at this point.

Henry Levin, the commission broker, received this week from Tucson his fine buggy horse and rig. Mr. Levin is now in a position to treat his patrons and friends to a nice drive about town at any time.

Charlie Levin has accepted a position in the N. M. & A. freight office at this point. Mr. Levin is a young man possessed of exemplary habits, well qualified to fill with credit, the responsible position assigned him.

THE VIDETTE extends a cordial welcome to Mr. A. M. Conard, who has come to Nogales to start a brewery and bottling works. Mr. Conard has faith in the future of Nogales and he has come to invest his money and help build up the town. Mrs. Conard will join her husband in the near future and they will make their home on Cañon street.

If you want a nice clean room in the most desirable locality in the city, go to Stambaugh's big new house on A very avenue. The rooms are all on the second story, well lighted and ventilated. There are nine rooms in all, both furnished and unfurnished. No objectionable persons need apply, prices most reasonable to the right parties.

Captain Milton was in the city Monday from the "Milton-Kiel" camp in the Santa Rita mountains. Captain Milton is authority for the report that Mr. Kiel, a few days ago, slaughtered a big bear. The captain did not tell us how the contest occurred, but we will bet the "soda pop" the race was a "handicap." Ferd is a dead-shot and would not take advantage of even a bear. Milton returned to camp Monday afternoon.

County assessor Frank J. Duffy is about the busiest man in Santa Cruz county just at present. He is out every day assessing property and is doing excellent work. Last week he rode over to Washington Camp, where he says he assessed everything in sight and much that was "out of sight," all of which will bring a pretty penny to coffers of the county. Mighty few men make better county officials than Frank. He gives good service to the people, hence his universal popularity. The taxpayers of Santa Cruz county appreciate Frank J. Duffy.

If congress will cede to the territory of Arizona 1,000,000 acres of arid land, the territory will have but little difficulty in securing the capital for its reclamation. It matters not what the experience of those states have been to which has been ceded large areas of arid lands for reclamation, Arizona can and will accomplish the reclamation of the lands, if the provision is incorporated in the grant allowing the lands to be located favorably to natural reservoir sites. Give Arizona the lands, she will reclaim them all right, and within a reasonable short space of time.—Star.

A. M. Conard leaves the first of the week's News, take charge of the Nogales brewery and bottling works. Mr. Conard has long been identified with all that has meant progress and improvement for Williams, and there is a large circle of business men who regret to see him leave. Williams, but what is Williams' loss is Nogales' gain, and the people of Nogales can rest assured that they have a man locating among them that never stands on expense when it comes to spending money for anything that puts a town to the front.—Williams News.

Arrival of Miss Grant.

Among the passengers who arrived here on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse yesterday was Miss Julia Dent Grant, the daughter of General Frederick D. Grant, who is engaged to be married to Prince Michael Cantacuzene of Russia. She came with Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer and their two sons, Potter Palmer, Jr., and Honore Palmer. Miss Grant was met at the pier by her grandfather, Mr. Honore, and her mother, who boarded the steamer and remained with her in her stateroom for some time after the ship had reached the pier. Miss Grant and her mother talked to the reporters in the saloon of the steamer.

"We had a beautiful trip abroad," Miss Grant said enthusiastically. "We journeyed up the Nile, and, in fact, spent most of the six months we have been away in Egypt. Of course, we were on the continent for some time." This naturally suggested her engagement to Prince Cantacuzene, who first met Miss Grant in Rome.

"Yes, my engagement is just as reported," she said. "It was announced three weeks ago in Paris. Prince Cantacuzene could not come with us because he is in the Russian army, and that means that he must obey orders, you know. I expect him over here early next fall, however. I cannot tell you just where the marriage will take place, but it will be in this country, and will happen some time next winter."

Miss Grant went to her mother's house in this city last night, and will stay there until the commencement at West Point, which she expects to attend. She will then go to Chicago visiting her aunt, Mrs. Potter Palmer, for some time before going to Newport.

Mrs. Grant expressed sorrow that her husband could not be at the pier to greet his daughter. General Grant is now on his way to the Philippines.

When asked as to her future home, Miss Grant said that she would probably make her home in the prince's castle, in southern Russia. Prince Cantacuzene is attached to the emperor's body guard and has been for some time connected with the Russian embassy at Rome.—N. Y. Tribune.

Miss Julia Dent Grant is a niece of our worthy townsman, Jesse D. Grant.

Railroad Assessments.

The board of equalization for the territory completed its June labors yesterday afternoon, having been in session for a week fixing the valuation of the railroads running through the territory and averaging the mileage assessment. The following is the result:

Val. per Mile	Total Val.
S. P. ....	$6,091.38
M & P. ....	4,908.72
N M & A. ....	3,740.00
A & N M. ....	3,127.97
A & S E. ....	5,883.25
C A. ....	1,963.65
E S. ....	1,333.33
P P C O. ....	30,163.47
S F P. ....	5,000.00
Total. ....	$5,246,018.17

The board adjourned to meet again on the second Monday in August when general assessments will be taken up and equalized.—Gazette.

OF INTEREST TO INVENTORS.

C. A. Snow & Co., one of the oldest and most successful firms of patent lawyers, whose offices are opposite the United States Patent Office in Washington, D. C., and who have procured patents for more than 17,000 inventors, say that, owing to the improved conditions in the United States Patent Office, patents may now be more promptly procured than at any previous time in their experience of twenty-five years.

Art squares, rugs, hassocks, mats and over sixty different patterns of carpets, from cheapest ingrain to finest velvets, at Stambaugh's furniture store. tf

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Correspondent.

When the influences which were brought to bear in his favor were considered, the case with which Henderson of Iowa, knocked out all the other candidates for Speaker and made his own election certain had nothing wonderful about it. It was a simple case of cause and effect. The principal factor in his speedy success was the tip given out by the administration in his favor. That tip was a little bit puzzling at first, because it had been understood that the administration was rather inclined to favor Sherman when Reed's retirement first became known. There were several reasons for the transfer of the favor of the administration from Sherman to Henderson. Mr. McKinley was jealous of the influence that Tom Reed would have with Sherman, wished to jolly the West by aiding it to capture the Speakership, and was most anxious of all to put a man in the Speaker's chair who could not become a candidate for President—Henderson's birth place was Scotland. The great personal popularity of Henderson made it easier to engineer the stampede to him than it would have been to any other man who was named as a candidate. While no man in Congress is a stronger partisan than "Dave" Henderson, no man in Congress has fewer personal enemies than he. What his policy as Speaker will be is yet to be ascertained.

The most interesting bit of political gossip of the week is that in addition to practicing law in New York, Mr. Reed intends to retain his seat in the House and to take an important part in all discussions that will give him a chance to pay off an old score, or to push himself to the head of his party. Although this is only a rumor, with the probabilities stronger against it, there is alarm in administration circles on account of it. There is no doubt that Mr. Reed could make a lot of trouble for the administration should he get up as a free lance on the floor of the House, as he is known to be opposed to the policy of the administration on a number of important questions. Mr. McKinley would much sooner have Reed in the Speakers chair, where his party responsibility would act as a restraint, than to have him on the floor armed with a club and looking out for heads to crack, with no responsibility to anything except his constituents. This gossip is likely to continue until Mr. Reed resigns as a member of the House, which nobody seems to know when he will do, if at all.

Ex-Congressman Follet, of Ohio, is sanguine that the democrats have more than a fighting chance to carry that State this year. He said: "The democrats of Ohio have solid grounds for believing that they can elect the Gov. this year. The revolt among the republicans who dislike Senator Hanna and his methods, and who are dissatisfied with the nomination of Judge Nash, will split the republican party asunder. In fact, the breach between the factions is too wide to be healed, and all talk of harmony is for effect. The Ohio democracy is going into this campaign united, confident and enthusiastic, while the opposition, conscious of the division in its ranks, is timid and dubious of the result."

A handsome and life-like marble bust of Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, made by order of a number of Washington democrats to be presented to Mrs. Bryan on her birthday, is on exhibition in Washington.

The difference between enthusiasm and cold cash is being exemplified by the slow growth of the fund for the purchase of a Washington house for Admiral Dewey. Subscriptions come in slower and slower and the total is still less than $7,000.

No official news from the Philippines has been given out this week, although it is known that long dispatches have been received both from Gen. Otis and from Mr. Schurman, President of the Philippine Commission. It is known that these dispatches did not agree in conclusions reached. Replies were sent to both, and Secretary Hay made public an official denial of the report that the civil commissioners were to be ordered home.

Jesse Grant in Nogales.

The fact that Mr. Jesse D. Grant, son of the illustrious General U. S. Grant, has decided to locate permanently in Nogales, will be gratifying news to the gentleman's many friends in Arizona and particularly in Nogales. Every city and town in America would be pleased to obtain Jesse Grant as a citizen, and we cannot help but rejoice that he now claims Nogales as his home. When it is known that he cast his first ballot here and is a member of the local Knights of Pythias, which order he joined years ago; also that he has big mining interests in Sonora, there is little wonder that he has decided to cast his lot with us for better or worse.

Jesse Grant, like his honored father, is possessed of all the sterling qualities which make men respected by their fellows. Being affable and courteous to all, he quickly makes friends wherever he goes, and it is safe to say that no individual in the United States can lay claim to more personal friends than Jesse Grant. Politically he is for free silver—first, last and all the time. He believes in the free coinage of silver, therefore he will work with might and main for the great boon that means so much for the territory in which he has cast his lot.

At present Mr. Grant is devoting his time in looking after his mining property in Sonora, which it is understood is developing into a bonanza.
